

Awai Studio Cultural Experience

Discussion Notes (Revised Draft)

Introduction

This document has been prepared to help us confirm our mutual understanding before preparing a simple written agreement for the Awai Studio cultural experience.

It summarizes how Awai Studio currently envisions the experience and its operation. I would be grateful if you could read through it and share your thoughts and suggestions.

2. Operation

Compensation for Jack and Hiromi

For the initial stage of operation, Awai Studio proposes a total payment of ¥30,000 per experience for Jack and Hiromi, including the use of Shotoku-an.

This payment would include:

- Hosting the experience at Shotoku-an
- Hiromi's assistance during the experience
- Use and preparation of the tea house
- Preparation and cleanup before and after the experience

org

- Providing tea and conversation

jack's check

- Providing tea, sweets, hassun, electricity, charcoal, kimono dry-cleaning, and water proposal

- Providing matcha and Japanese sweets
- Use of traditional utensils and charcoal
- Preparation of the tea house environment, including traditional attire (kimono)

For the initial launch, Awai Studio proposes that hassun not be included. This will allow us to begin with a simpler structure while we confirm any food-safety, allergy, insurance, and operational requirements. We may discuss adding hassun in the future if appropriate.

I hope we can begin with this arrangement and, as we gain experience, review it together if adjustments become necessary.

Booking Process

Awai Studio will operate the booking process by first checking Jack and Hiromi's availability.

The proposed regular availability is:

- Mondays: 10:00 or 15:00
- Tuesdays: 10:00 or 15:00
- Wednesdays: Approximately once every two weeks, subject to schedule confirmation
- Thursdays: Approximately once every three weeks, subject to schedule confirmation

- Fridays: 15:00 only
- Saturdays: 10:00 or 15:00

Guests will submit several possible dates. After confirming availability with Jack and Hiromi, Awai Studio will send the guest payment instructions.

A booking will be considered confirmed only after payment has been completed.

Unavailable Dates

If there are particular days, periods of the year, or longer absences during which Jack and Hiromi would prefer not to accept reservations, I would appreciate knowing them in advance.

3. Business Liability Insurance and Risk Management

Awai Studio will arrange business liability insurance to prepare for participant injuries, accidents, and other incidents that may occur in connection with the operation of the experience, subject to the terms and coverage of the insurance policy.

As the business operator, Awai Studio will assume operational responsibility for the experience and will establish and implement the necessary safety and risk-management measures.

This will include risk management relating to the use of the charcoal fire and hearth, participant safety, and procedures for responding to emergencies.

4. Cancellation and Rescheduling

Cancellation by a Guest

Guest cancellations will be handled in accordance with the cancellation policy published on the Awai Studio website.

If a guest cancels at least seven days before the experience and receives a full refund, no compensation will be payable to Jack and Hiromi for that booking.

If a guest cancels less than seven days before the experience and the guest's payment is non-refundable, the agreed compensation of ¥30,000 will remain payable.

If a guest is entitled to a full refund under the published cancellation policy, including the applicable 24-hour period following payment, no compensation will be payable to Jack and Hiromi.

Cancellation for Reasons Within the Control of the Shotoku-an Side

If a confirmed experience is cancelled for a reason within the reasonable control of the Shotoku-an side, no compensation will be payable for the cancelled experience.

Awai Studio will offer the guest a full refund or the option to reschedule.

The Shotoku-an side will reimburse Awai Studio for any documented and non-recoverable payment processing fees, refund fees, and insurance premiums paid specifically for that experience.

Awai Studio will not claim lost profit or compensation for its own working time.

Cancellation by Awai Studio

If Awai Studio cancels a confirmed experience for reasons within its reasonable control less than seven days before the scheduled date, the agreed compensation of ¥30,000 will remain payable.

No compensation will be payable if Awai Studio cancels at least seven days before the scheduled date.

Awai Studio will be responsible for any payment processing fees, refund fees, or other direct expenses arising from a cancellation within its reasonable control.

Circumstances Beyond Either Party's Control

Circumstances beyond either party's reasonable control include:

- A serious deterioration in Jack's health, hospitalization, or another unavoidable medical circumstance that makes it impossible for him to host the experience
- A natural disaster
- A severe weather warning
- Suspension of public transportation
- A government restriction
- Another comparable circumstance beyond either party's reasonable control

If the experience cannot take place because of one of these circumstances, the parties will first seek to reschedule the experience.

If rescheduling is not possible, Awai Studio will refund the guest. No compensation will be payable to Jack and Hiromi for an experience that does not take place.

Any documented and non-recoverable payment processing fees, refund fees, and insurance premiums paid specifically for that experience will be shared equally between Awai Studio and the Shotoku-an side.

5. Website Publication
